CODE OF ETHICS

Authentic Technologies is committed to providing value to our clients and adhering to a stringent code of ethics.

There can be no half measure of integrity in our obligations to our clients and peers. We are honest in all transactions: in time, money, and expenditures. We treat all client information with respect and the highest level of confidentiality.

We uphold the finest traditions of consulting with sound business principles to assist our clients in achieving the most successful business performance.

We work to advance our knowledge and abilities and willingly share with other professional consultants the lessons of our experience.

We do not permit ourselves to be compromised by conflicts of interest with our clients. We undertake consulting assignments only if qualified or after full disclosure to clients of our pertinent qualifications.

We appraise the work of fellow consultants with respect for differences in approach and with honesty in informing clients of both strengths and weaknesses in these approaches when our opinion is solicited.
